Dear Judi

Re: Request for further information.

Please refer to the map attached for the location of components of the activities applied for under this concession.

With regard to health and safety obligations, Geotech Ltd are registered with TELARC for:

- ISO 14001:2015 Environmental Quality Management System
- AS/NZ 4801:2001 Health and Safety Management System
- ISO 9001:2015 Quality Management System

in contract services for demolition, drilling and blasting, rock fall mitigation and stabilisation, earthworks, transport, tunnelling, ground and slope stabilization, mining and quarrying, and site remediation.

We maintain robust health and safety systems and have competent, trained and experienced staff. Ant Black (company owner) holds A-Grade certificates of competency for tunnelling, opencast mining and quarrying and has completed course work for SSE (Site Senior Executive) certificates of competency in these categories and is currently waiting for oral examination to complete this certification.

The Denniston Experience will be managed within our current health and safety management system, to comply with the Health and Safety at Work Act (2015) and the Health and Safety at Work (Mining Operations and Quarrying Operations) Regulations 2016. A site-specific Health, Safety and Environmental management plan will be developed from a comprehensive risk assessment and will be accompanied by documented procedures and SWPs (Standard Work Practices) to ensure the safety of visitors and staff, the maintenance of machinery and plant, and to protect the facilities (both modern and historic) and the environment.

The Denniston Experience would be included in Geotech's external TELARC auditing and our internal audit plan.

Please don't hesitate to contact me should you require further details or additional information.

Yours sincerely
