

FIGURE 14
What's wrong in the forests of Tuku Nature Reserve: cattle browse on a karamu sapling (left); pig rooting
upending seedlings and saplings (below).

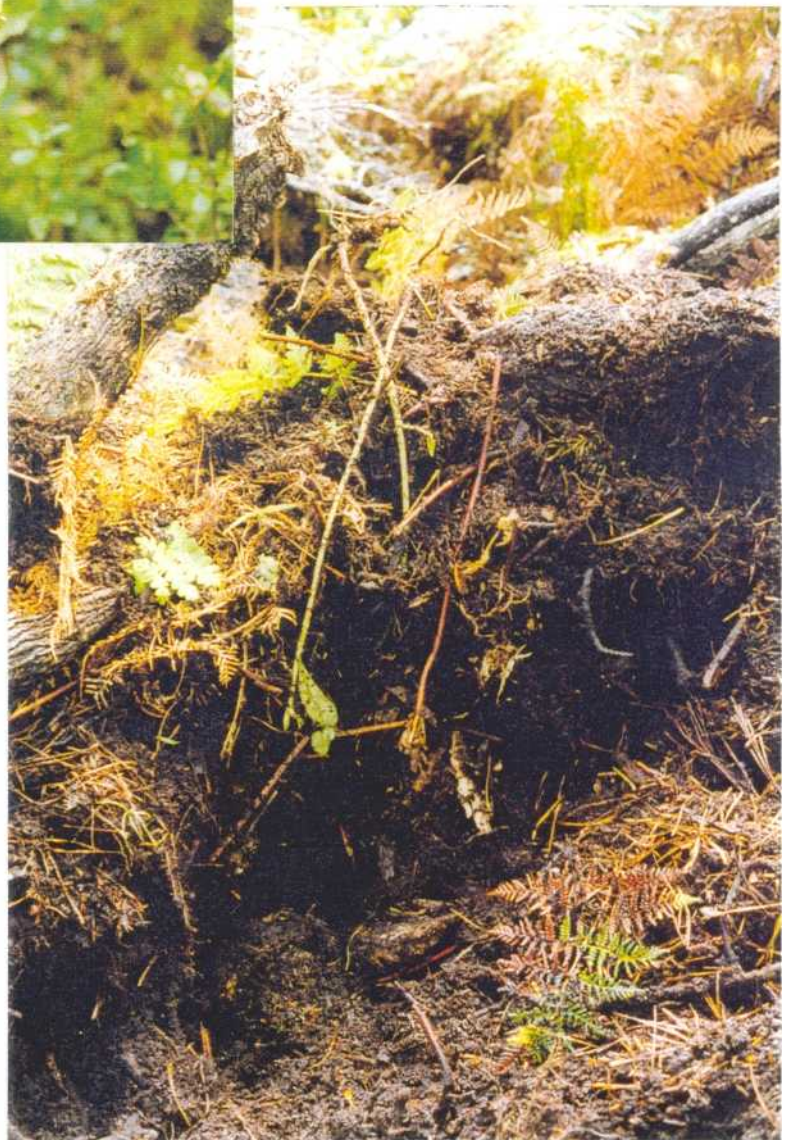

FIGURE 15
Rangaika Scenic Reserve near Plot 4, in 1990 (above) and 1996 (below). In six years there has been a dramatic increase in flax in the fenced-off grassland, and a thinning of tree canopies.

FIGURE 16

Three problems within a 30m stretch of the seaward fence erected to protect Canon Peirce Scenic Reserve: sand encroachment (top), fallen tree (middle), sand deflation (bottom). A properly resourced maintenance programme would ensure these were rapidly dealt with.

